Sweethearts of Half a Century Ago Made Man and Wife.

The last pleasing chapter in a romance of fifty years ago was worked out here

The last pleasing chapter in a remance of fifty years ago was worked out here yesterday afternoon when Michael O'Doherty, now of Kansas City, and Mrs. Mary Schwitzer, of this city, both well advanced in the path of life, were made man and wife.

More than half a century ago Mr. O'Doherty and Mrs. Schwitzer, then Miss Mary McMahon, were sweethearts in Killarney, Ireland. Both came to America, but they drifted apart, and in the course of time each was married. Mr. O'Doherty settled permanently in Kansas City, where he grew prosperous; Mrs. Schweitzer remained here. Years ago the wife of Mr. O'Doherty died, and some few years later Mrs. Schweitzer died in the course of time was rekindled. Ten days ago the wife of Mr. O'Doherty died, and some few years later Mrs. Schweitzer was left a widow. It was then that the oid flame was rekindled. Ten days ago Mr. O'Doherty came to Richmond, ostensibly to visit relatives. He seuth with the context of the field, where the cadets swiftly to visit relatives. He seuth was refulled. Danville Gave Richmond College Close Fight.

TIE BEST THEY COULD GET

Struggle a Most Interesting and Exciting One-College Was Forced to Put in the Lost of its Players.

The Richmond College foot-ball team yesterday afternoon expected that the Danville Military Institute team would afford them some valuable practice for their hard game with Hampden-Sidney here Saturday, but they encountered a genuine surprise party in the visiting eleven, and had to use their utmost endeavors to save themselves from defeat. When the game began the College did not put in Smith and Lankford, its stars, expecting to save them fresh for Saturday's game; but the visitors went into the game with a rush and in seven or eight minutes had carried the ball over 10) a touchdown. Then recliment awakened and put in its best men, but even with them and the hardest kind of playing, the best the conegans could do was to the the score.

the College sent the ball to the center of the field, where the cadets swiftly workd it down the field and over the line for a touchdown. The visiting gains were made by what is technically known as the checkerboard play, the "endsover" being alternately worked for good gains. Smith, the star of the Richmond team, was put in to stem the tide, but could not accomplish such a big contract. Richmond was penalized five yards and the yellow jackets, as the cadets are called, hammered the line and circled the ends for sure gains, until the ball was taken over the line. The full back kicked goal. Score, Danville Military Institute, 6; Richmond College, 9.

Richmond then put Lankford in Ken-y's place at full-back and, thus ney's place at full-back and, thus strengthened, the college men played with all their powers, D. M. Hiustraled in color.

You read both Monsieur Beau-caire and The Gentleman from in-diana with delight. When you have read Cherry you will realize that Booth Tarkington has ex-celled his previous work, for in grace of style and charm of plot this tale stands alone. It is an American love story, a whimsical comedy, humorous and fresh,
